

Filters: Love, Hostility or Fear

There are three filters in the frontal part of the brain over Intentions: Hostility, Fear, Rakhma (translated Love) and three filters in the back of the brain over Perceptions: Hostility, Fear, Koohba (translated Love). Both Love filters set together is called “Perfect Love” – and perfect love casts out fear. Only one filter can be set at a time so look at your “feelings” over any situation...what do you feel? If there is hostility or fear then you are operating out of carbon based memory and are compromising your own intelligence. Reset the filter to love and be connected to your Source (your BEING) regardless what is happening in your world – that is what Y’Shua (aka Jesus Christ) did and they killed his body but he was able to rebuild it and live. That is what he came to teach. Your connection to God (to Love) is what keeps you alive. Watch Getting the Stress You Need – it covers the filters.
